

Absolutely not! Hiring the wrong SEO will give you the wrong results. The wrong SEO can get your website banned from search engines. Some SEO's just don't know what they're doing, and some SEO's know how to do things that work in the short term, but both have similar results; your website does not show up in search results.

Commerce International Services performs what the industry calls "White Hat SEO", and we do it aggressively. We play by the rules that search engines lay out, and we do it aggressively.